FINAL ORDER

¶1 The appellant has filed a compliance petition for review of the compliance initial decision, which denied his second petition for enforcement of the agreement that settled his remanded removal appeal. On petition for review, the appellant argues that the administrative judge erred in denying his second petition

<sup>1</sup> A nonprecedential order is one that the Board has determined does not add significantly to the body of MSPB case law. Parties may cite nonprecedential orders, but such orders have no precedential value; the Board and administrative judges are not required to follow or distinguish them in any future decisions. In contrast, a precedential decision issued as an Opinion and Order has been identified by the Board as significantly contributing to the Board's case law. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.117\(c\).

for enforcement. His sole contention on review reiterates his argument that the agency breached the settlement agreement by failing to purchase required safety equipment for him and he provides a largely illegible receipt that he contends demonstrates that he purchased the equipment himself. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Therefore, we DENY the petition for review. Except as expressly MODIFIED to dismiss the appellant's claims concerning his safety equipment and the repayment of interest on the refund of his Federal Employees Health Benefits (FEHB) premiums on the basis of res judicata, we AFFIRM the initial decision.

¶2 When an appellant files an appeal that raises claims raised in an earlier appeal after the initial decision in the earlier appeal has been issued, but before the full Board has acted on the appellant's petition for review, it is appropriate to dismiss the subsequent appeal on the grounds of adjudicatory efficiency. Zgonc v. Department of Defense, 103 M.S.P.R. 666, ¶ 6 (2006), aff'd per curiam, 230 F. App'x 967 (Fed. Cir. 2007); McNeil v. Department of Defense, 100 M.S.P.R. 146, ¶ 11 (2005). Because the record showed that the appellant had raised the issues of his safety equipment and the interest due on his refunded FEHB contributions in his first petition for enforcement and the compliance petition for review of the compliance initial decision in that matter was still pending before the full Board at the time that the administrative judge issued the compliance initial decision in the instant matter, the administrative judge correctly dismissed those claims on the ground of adjudicatory efficiency. Barnhart v. Department of the Army, MSPB Docket No. CH-0752-15-0082-C-2, Compliance File, Tab 8, Compliance Initial Decision at 3-4; Zgonc, 103 M.S.P.R. 666, ¶ 6.

¶3 Nevertheless, the Board has now issued a final decision denying the appellant's first petition for enforcement. Barnhart v. Department of the Army, MSPB Docket No. CH-0752-15-0082-C-1, Final Order (Dec. 15, 2022). Res judicata precludes the parties from relitigating issues that were, or could have been, raised in the prior action and is applicable if the following criteria are satisfied: (1) the prior judgment was rendered by a forum with competent jurisdiction; (2) the prior judgment was a final judgment on the merits; and (3) the same cause of action and the same parties or their privies were involved in both cases. Senyszyn v. Department of the Treasury, 113 M.S.P.R. 453, ¶ 9 (2010). Because the final decision on the appellant's first petition for enforcement now meets those elements, we modify the initial decision to find that the appellant's claims concerning his safety equipment and FEHB premiums are barred by res judicata. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113(b) (explaining that an initial decision becomes final when the Board denies the petition for review).

your claims determines the time limit for seeking such review and the appropriate forum with which to file. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\). Although we offer the following summary of available appeal rights, the Merit Systems Protection Board does not provide legal advice on which option is most appropriate for your situation and the rights described below do not represent a statement of how courts will rule regarding which cases fall within their jurisdiction. Failure to file within the applicable time limit may result in the dismissal of your case by your chosen forum.

Please read carefully each of the three main possible choices of review below to decide which one applies to your particular case. If you have questions about whether a particular forum is the appropriate one to review your case, you should contact that forum for more information.

(1) Judicial review in general. As a general rule, an appellant seeking judicial review of a final Board order must file a petition for review with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, which must be received by the court within 60 calendar days of the date of issuance of this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\)\(1\)\(A\).

If you submit a petition for review to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, you must submit your petition to the court at the following address:

(2) Judicial or EEOC review of cases involving a claim of discrimination. This option applies to you only if you have claimed that you were affected by an action that is appealable to the Board and that such action was based, in whole or in part, on unlawful discrimination. If so, you may obtain judicial review of this decision—including a disposition of your discrimination claims—by filing a civil action with an appropriate U.S. district court (not the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit), within 30 calendar days after you receive this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\)\(2\); see Perry v. Merit Systems Protection Board, 582 U.S. ____ , 137 S. Ct. 1975 (2017). If you have a representative in this case, and your representative receives this decision before you do, then you must file with the district court no later than 30 calendar days after your representative receives this decision. If the action involves a claim of discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or a disabling condition, you may be entitled to representation by a court-appointed lawyer and to waiver of any requirement of prepayment of fees, costs, or other security. See 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5\(f\) and 29 U.S.C. § 794a.

Alternatively, you may request review by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) of your discrimination claims only, excluding all other issues. 5 U.S.C. § 7702(b)(1). You must file any such request with the EEOC's Office of Federal Operations within 30 calendar days after you receive this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7702(b)(1). If you have a representative in this case, and your representative receives this decision before you do, then you must file with the EEOC no later than 30 calendar days after your representative receives this decision.

If so, and your judicial petition for review “raises no challenge to the Board’s disposition of allegations of a prohibited personnel practice described in section 2302(b) other than practices described in section 2302(b)(8), or 2302(b)(9)(A)(i), (B), (C), or (D),” then you may file a petition for judicial review either with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or any court of appeals of competent jurisdiction.<sup>3</sup> The court of appeals must receive your petition for review within 60 days of the date of issuance of this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\)\(1\)\(B\).
